The first important element of language is clarity, or the use of language to make sure the audience understands a speaker's ideas in the way the speaker intended. While language, or verbal communication, is only one channel we can use to transmit information, it is a channel that can lend itself to numerous problems. 13.3 Six Elements of Language – Stand up, Speak out Authenticity Authenticity deals with the “real world”. Authenticity is the degree of correspondence of the characteristics of a given language test task to the features of a target language task Brown (2004:28). Teachers should construct a test with the test items are likely to be used or applied in the real contexts of daily life. Brown (2004:28) also proposes considerations that might be helpful to present authenticity in a test. They are: 1. The language in the test is natural as ...
