Communism and the Environmental movement is a debate tactic commonly employed by rightwing Talking Heads in an attempt to smear by association and, sadly, too often this supposed relationship is blindly accepted and parroted by their audience. For example conservative columnist George Will wrote in the Washington Post May 31, 1992, that environmentalism is "a green tree with red ... Communism and the Environment - SourceWatch At its core, communism is simply the communal control of resources—including our own labour resources, as well as natural resources like trees, water and minerals. Past attempts to create communist societies have grappled with how to give people control over the distribution and use of these resources. Would a communist society protect the environment ... Eco-socialism, green socialism or socialist ecology is an ideology merging aspects of socialism with that of green politics, ecology and alter-globalization or anti-globalization. Eco-socialists generally believe that the expansion of the capitalist system is the cause of social exclusion, poverty, war and environmental degradation through globalization and imperialism, under the supervision of ... Eco-socialism - Wikipedia When the Soviet Republic collapsed in 1991 and the aid imports stopped, this marked the beginning of the “Special Period” in Cuba’s history. Rather than crumble under tightened US sanctions, the government embraced the possibility of
