Gives several methods of treating hides, including making the invaluable "prairie iron" rawhide, buckskinning, actual tanning, and tawing (tanning with the hair on). Especially good for estimating times and amounts. Home Tanning and Leather Making Guide: Farnham, Albert ... Tanning is the process of treating skins and hides of animals to produce leather. A tannery is the place where the skins are processed. Tanning hide into leather involves a process which permanently alters the protein structure of skin, making it more durable and less susceptible to decomposition, and also possibly coloring it. Before tanning, the skins are dehaired, degreased, desalted and soaked in water over a period of six hours to two days. Historically this process was considered a
