Basically PG sell it as part of their service to power plants. This hotline service can be hit and miss - I know some field guys on the commissioning circuit who dont bother with the hotline service. I can direct your question to an ex Siemens colleague if you wish - throw it on the boards here. Teleperm XP - Siemens The Teleperm XP interface provides support for analog, digital, and counter (integer) values from the XP system. The data type of the data in the XP system must be known ahead of time and so analog values may only be retrieved into real (float) tags, digital values into discrete tags, and counter values into integer tags (in PI).
